CHICAGO GREETES ADMIRAL SCHLEY

Hero of Santiago Arrives This Morning and is Warmly Welcomed.

THREE BUSY DAYS

Many Receptions and Feasts Have Been Arranged in His Honor.

WIFE SHARES HONORS

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Chicago welcomed Rear Admiral Schley this morning with all the fervor that is capable of expression in words and actions. The commander of the fleet which destroyed the Spanish warships at Santiago—the gallant officer who served for his country has extended over more than forty years—found that a large proportion of Chicago's 2,000,000 residents are determined to see and cheer him during his three days' visit in the city.

Remarkable Demonstrations.—The reception accorded to Schley was one of the most remarkable demonstrations in the history of the city. Two hours before the train arrived the streets in the vicinity of the depot were jammed with people anxious to catch a glimpse of the hero of Santiago. When the train pulled in the pent up enthusiasm of the hero worshippers broke out and their cheering was continual until the admiral reached the hotel.

The line of march from the depot to the hotel was lined with thousands of waving hats, cheering like mad. The admiral smiled and bowed continually.

The admiral was particularly touched by the greeting of several thousand school children with small American flags.

He was aroused before daylight while the train was running through Indiana by the cheers of the residents of cities and villages along the way. Even at the country crossroads the farmers and their families waited for the train and cheered as it flew past.

At all stops the admiral appeared on the platform and shook hands with the people.

This and the general reception on Monday afternoon will be the only opportunities for the public to view the distinguished guest of the Hamilton club.

Met Him on the Train

The Hamilton club committee headed by President E. A. Munger boarded the Chicago limited of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad bringing Admiral and Mrs. Schley in South Chicago, and took immediate possession to their guests. A delegation of the city council with Mayor Harrison were at the station and Alderman Frank T. Fowler presented the city council resolutions welcoming the admiral to the city. A delegation of naval veterans was also present.

The route of the carriages from the Grand Central station to the Auditorium Annex was north on Fifth avenue to Jackson boulevard, east to Michigan avenue, and south to the hotel.

The resolutions presented to the admiral by the county board at 12:45 o'clock were a handsome souvenir of his trip to Chicago. They are hand painted on Japanese vellum and bound in Levant morocco leather, decorated with gold enamel.

Banquet Feature of the Day.—The banquet at the Auditorium tonight will be the feature of the day's entertainment. Plates will be laid for 750 guests, and handsome souvenirs will be given. The souvenir for Schley is his own likeness, which is the admiral's flag as background, cast of bronze and handsomely bound. The speakers at the banquet will be General Clarke E. Carr of Galesburg, President Fred A. Bangs of the west park board, ex-President Henry W. Price of the Chicago Maryland society, and the Rev. R. A. White.

Mrs. Schley is being cared for by a committee of women. A breakfast was given in her honor this morning, and she will be tendered a reception by the Woman's club at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. She will dine with the reception committee, and will attend a theater in the evening with Mrs. Munger.

Admiral Schley will rule supreme at the Hamilton club from the time of his arrival until he departs from the city. Only for a few hours on Sunday will he not be called upon to face the battery of public approval. He will be shaking hands the most of the time with those who long ago decided to whom belongs the credit for the battle of Santiago.

Ready for the Fray.—Just before arriving, this morning Admiral Schley professed to be in the best of health and spirits and anxious to meet the people of Chicago. It is conceded by those who have made a careful study of the program before him that he will be fortunate to depart in the same good physical condition. Many younger men would hesitate before undertaking such a task as awaits the naval fighter.

The pupils of the Winfield Scott Schley school will have an opportunity to shake hands with the admiral on Monday morning. President Harris and Trustee Gallagher of the school board will accompany the admiral and committee on a visit to the school. Instructions have been given to allow the youngest pupils to be the first to shake hands with the admiral, because of his reputed fondness for young children.

MR. BRYAN'S TALK IS WORTH MONEY

Says Lectures the Past Three Weeks Have Netted Him $2,500—The Commoner Read by 81,000.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—While here Wednesday William Jennings Bryan told friends that he had made $2,500 out of lecturing the past three weeks. He said that he had offers to lecture all over the country, but owing to business affairs was unable to accept only a small number of them.

His terms are 50 per cent of the gross, and he always insists that the price of admission shall not exceed 50 cents. He made $300 out of his lecture here. Baraboo and Beloit people are negotiating with him for lectures. He told representatives of these places that he would be back this way again about Feb. 19, and they could have that or the two following dates. On Feb. 22 he lectures at Detroit.

As he was entering the university armory Wednesday night a score of small boys intercepted him and said they wanted to hear him. "Come along, boys," he responded, and when he reached the doorkeeper he waved his hand at the troop of little fellows and said: "These are all my boys, let them in." He told friends here that he was making a good living out of his paper, The Commoner, for which he gets a dollar a year. His paid subscription list he said now was $1,000.

DAIRYMEN WILL WIN THE FIGHT

The Committee's Oleo Bill Drawn as They Liked—Places Tax at Ten Cents.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—The dairymen have won their battle against oleomargarine. The house committee on agriculture has granted them every demand in the bill that is soon to be presented. The committee agreed upon the terms of the bill late this afternoon and delegated Representative Henry of Connecticut to put the points agreed upon in the shape of a bill. He completed his work today, and the revisions of the bill could hardly be more favorable to the butter interests.

The plan of the oleomargarine interests that the tax on the uncolored product be removed was unheeded, and the suggestion of the butter men that it be placed at 14 cent a pound was adopted. A tax of ten cents a pound was placed on the oleo colored in imitation of butter.

Special care is taken to define which shall constitute a vendor of oleo and it is provided that the books of the dealers shall be open to inspection. Conviction for violating this provision carries with it a jail sentence.

NEGRO CONFESSED TO THE MURDER

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—Wm. Strothers, the negro bath attendant, confessed this morning to the murder of Honorable A. Dean Cooper in the Vista Turkish bath establishment on Thursday morning. He said he killed Cooper so he might rob him of his diamonds.

GRAND JURY MAY INDICT OFFICIALS

New York, Jan. 25.—It is believed that the district attorney will immediately ask the grand jury to indict the several high officials of the New York Central road as result of the verdict of the coroner's jury which held that the officials of the road were responsible for the recent tunnel wreck.

A MINE HORROR COST 20 LIVE

Oskaloosa, Ia., Jan. 25.—The revised list of the dead in the Lost Creek mine horror shows that twenty lives were lost. The mine was thoroughly searched and all the dead and injured recovered. None of the injured will die.

Nearly everybody in Belleville, Ill., felt the earthquake. Belleville is honeycombed by coal mines, and there was probably more fright in the St. Clair county capital than elsewhere when the nature of the visitation was realized.

The shocks were generally felt throughout the suburbs. They accompanied the rattling of crockery and swinging of pictures. At Chamberlain Park many families gathered in undress immediately after the first shock.

At Clifton Heights the shocks were severe, and several persons went into their yards, fearing that the houses would be shaken down. The tremors were severe in the tri-cities across the river.

In Venice buildings shook and windows rattled so violently that residents believed an explosion had occurred in the neighborhood.

Quincy Shaken Up.—Quincy, Ill., Jan. 25.—There was a pronounced earthquake shock here at 4:40 Friday morning. The seismic disturbance lasted nearly a minute and the oscillation was from east to west. The shaking of walls was perceptible in many brick residences.

Lum Evans, a farmer, while driving to town, felt the shock when near Beverly. It frightened the horses.

Thought It Was a Tornado.—St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 25.—Early Friday morning a rumbling noise passed under St. Joseph, awakening many families, who thought a tornado was coming. The noise was accompanied by a distinct earthquake shock.

Rattled Dishes at Springfield.—Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—The earthquake shock was felt distinctly by a number of residents of Springfield. The shock was decided and rattled glassware, vases and kitchen utensils. The earth trembled perceptibly.

Kansas City Shock.—Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 25.—An earthquake shock was felt in this city Friday morning. The movement was slight and no damage resulted.

NO PROPERTY DAMAGE

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt in St. Louis and the surrounding territory five minutes before 5 o'clock Friday morning. The shocks were severe and drove people from their beds in alarm. The shocks were felt as far west as Leavenworth and Kansas City, and through central Illinois.

The first tremor came at 4:40 o'clock. It rattled windows, shook pictures from the walls, and aroused many sleepers. In some parts of the city where the tremor was more severe, many persons rushed into their yards in alarm, thinking there had been a severe explosion in the vicinity.

The second shock found most of the city awake and alarmed. It came a few minutes before 5 o'clock and was more severe than the first. It lasted nearly half a minute and caused great alarm.

No serious damage resulted from the earthquake. The shocks were accompanied by a deep rumbling sound which seemed like the reverberations of a heavy explosion.

The earthquake was felt distinctly at Alton, Ill. In the west end of that city, on the bluffs, the vibrations were most severe. Many persons ran into the streets in their night clothes. In the east end of Alton, where the population is more dense, nearly every one left his bed, and some got into the street.

Nearly everybody in Belleville, Ill., felt the earthquake. Belleville is honeycombed by coal mines, and there was probably more fright in the St. Clair county capital than elsewhere when the nature of the visitation was realized.

The shocks were generally felt throughout the suburbs. They accompanied the rattling of crockery and swinging of pictures. At Chamberlain Park many families gathered in undress immediately after the first shock.

SCOTCHMEN IN A GLOW OF PRIDE

CELEBRATE THE 143rd ANNIVERSARY OF ROBERT BURNS.

Members of the Local Caledonian Society Spent a Pleasant Evening in Assembly Hall Last Night—Features of a Fine Program—Wound Up by Dancing.

Sweet indeed to those sons of Scotland, the land of the hawthorne and the heather, that have gone before must have been the incense that was wafted to the skies last evening from every nook and cranny of "Bonnie Scotland" from all over America and from every other portion of the globe where the descendants of those who fought with Bruce and Wallace have wandered in search of the liberty so dear to every Scot's heart and for which his ancestors so freely died.

Today is the one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. The poet whose memory Scotchmen will never cease to venerate and in whose nativity every Scotchman feels a glow of pride. According to the custom that has been in vogue for about fifty years.

The members of the Caledonian society all over the world make this the occasion of a celebration for the purpose of bringing Scottish people together for the promotion of national pride, the recounting the deeds of Scotland's sons and encouraging fraternal and social relations among the Scottish people and above all for "Auld Lang Syne."

The members of the local society gave their celebration at the Assembly hall last evening and though the society has given these Burns's celebrations continuously for sixteen years and since the giving of the first celebration in 1881, many of the men and women whom ade up that gathering have gone to join the ranks of those whose memories they venerated, enough of them still remain to crowd the hall last evening to the doors and many were compelled to remain standing during the rendering of the entire program.

The program was opened with the playing of the dear old Scottish ballad "A Comin' Through the Rye," with variations by Smith's orchestra. The exquisite rendering of the piece and George Grey's excellent work in the solo parts on the clarinet placed the audience in a fitting humor for all that was to follow.

Mr. George Skinner, president of the local Caledonian society and who is a typical Scot of the old school presided over the festivities of the evening. His address was the second number on the program and was a brief summary of the history and aims of the society and a beautiful tribute to the memory of the poet.

The third number was a song by Miss Amy Murray of New York, which delighted the audience. Miss Murray is possessed of a rich soprano voice of great strength and range, which when on the low notes assumes all the rugged strength of a baritone and when on the high notes surprises the listener with the purity and sweetness of the tones.

Miss Murray was on the program for several numbers and each time was compelled to respond to an encore.

Another feature on the program which added much to the delight of the audience was Wm. B. Hunter of Milwaukee in humorous Scotch songs and character impersonations.

"Draw in Yer Chair" contained a strain of sentiment in it which with his effective rendering brought hand-claps to the eyes of many of his listeners and earned for him a double encore.

Professor A. J. Hutton delivered the address of the evening, choosing for his topic "Robert Burns." The professor is a pleasing and forcible speaker and his address was well received by the audience. He began by drawing a word picture of what he would consider an ideal man and in doing so named the attributes which history states were those of Burns. Throughout his address he made frequent quotations from Burns' poems which he rendered in splendid brogue. At the close he was presented with a handsome Scotch bonnet by the society.

Robert Henderson, a ventriloquist of Milwaukee, gave two excellent numbers.

Another number on the program was the violin solo by little Miss Wilma Soverhill, who, though but a child, handles the bow with an ease and delicacy of touch most surprising. Her music was of a high order and brought for her hearty applause and she was compelled to respond to repeated encores.

The two selections on the violin by Miss Campbell were also much enjoyed by the audience. She played with the finish of a master.

The program was closed with the audience singing "Auld Lang Syne," led by Miss Murray, after which the evening was spent in dancing.

IMPERIAL CLUB GIVE PRETTY BALL

Delightful Dancing Function Held Last Evening at Fort Atkinson—Janesville Was Represented.

Under the auspices of the Imperial club a charming dancing party was held last evening in Fort Atkinson. Like all imperial parties the affair was the social event of the season in Fort circles and for several weeks has been eagerly awaited. About seventy-five couples were on the floor while spectators filled the balcony. That the pretty girls of Fort Atkinson were out in costumes worn would have done justice to any Junior prom ever held in Madison.

They were not only costly, but many were made in Chicago and the cast by famous tailoring firms, especially for the occasion. As right royal entertainers the Fort Atkinson boys and girls have a reputation that extends all over the state. The minute one sets foot in the hall he or she is a stranger no longer. A special committee whose business it is to look after strangers has this work in hand and they are truly experts. In the system they have of making one feel at home in a short space of time. If you don't have a good time then the chairman of this committee is then called upon to probe into the difficulty. That's why everyone has a good time.

The decorations of the hall last evening were tasty and in full keeping with the balance of program. The club colors of purple and gold were prominent. Large American flags, as well as an endless quantity of draperies, were used in decorating. Pot plants and cut flowers were on all sides. Roomy couches and chairs lined the hall. A punch bowl beneath a beautiful canopy proved a most popular place. One entire corner of the hall was devoted as a place of rest for those who cared to now and then miss a dance. Costly divans, banquet lamps, as well as Turkish rugs and Oriental draperies made this corner most inviting. The German orchestra furnished the music.

The grand march took place at 9:30 o'clock and was led by Miss Francis McMillan and Halsey Curtis of Fort Atkinson. Out of town guests were present from Milwaukee, Chicago, New York, Watertown, Beloit and Janesville. Among those present from this city were Charles H. Reynolds, Samuel B. Echlin, Henry Cody, E. V. Whiton, Walter S. Fifield and William W. Watt.

Illinois Mining Board Makes Accusation Against Bradwood Man.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—The state mining board announced that another attempt to bribe the board had been made. An official statement says:

"Joseph C. H. Charpentier of Bradwood, Will County, evidently fearing he lacked ability to secure a certificate as mine inspector by fair means, handed President Newsam a $20 gold piece and a $10 coin of the same kind. Mr. Newsam indignantly spurned the bribe.

"Several attempts of this character have been made. All have failed. Some of these would-be bribers have earned sufficient credits in the examination to entitle them to a certificate on their merits, but were turned down. In future if any attempt is made in this line the names will be published in every case."

The Spectator continues: "If America had actually been faced in arms by a European coalition England would have been beside her in twenty-four hours. The nation of Englishmen calmly looking on while foreign fleets were attacking New York and Boston is simply unthinkable."

May Yerkes Does Not Control.

London, Jan. 25.—The dispute between the two old underground railways has been reawakened. The Metropolitan's report says that "an American syndicate has obtained control of the District company." The latter has issued a protest saying that although the interest of Yerkes' traction company in the District company is large it is not large enough to give it control.

Warehouse Manager Missing.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—William S. Applegate, manager for Wakem & McLaughlin, is said to be short $10,000 in his accounts.

Mr. Applegate was manager of a branch warehouse. Previous to coming to the city he lived at Ravinia. He is an old employee. His friends are confident that if there is any shortage in his accounts he will reimburse the firm.

were supporters of La Follette up to this time the meeting was practically unanimous in its support of Whitehead. One of the leading business men of the place was in Janesville and in speaking of the incident said: "It is surprising and gratifying as well to see the favor accorded to the candidacy of Whitehead and at Clinton where the governor has always been counted as particularly strong, the sentiment is for Whitehead. Personally he has my most hearty support. We know him and have confidence in his strength and ability."

It is frequently asserted that while the business men and professional men are opposed to the re-nomination of La Follette, the farmers are a unit in his favor. At the Milton Junction meeting the farmers afforded an opportunity to test the matter, with the result that of the many farmers indiscriminately selected in the audience or upon the streets, but one man was found who would not support Whitehead and was a supporter of La Follette.

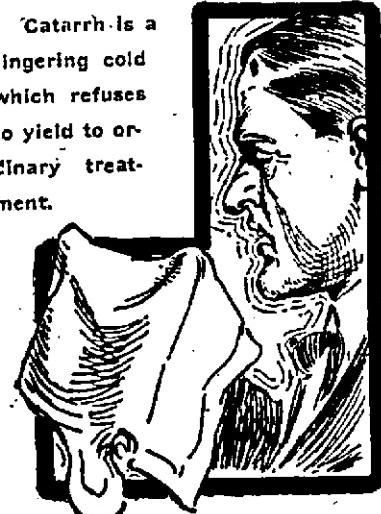

In this connection it can be stated that the efforts of the supporters of the governor to turn the meeting into a political discussion were a flat failure. The farmers were more interested in knowing why their taxes were higher on account of the school tax than they were in a rambling discussion of the governor's primary election scheme.

Among the names included on the Whitehead lists who gave favorable interviews for his candidacy in the Sentinel article are M. G. Jeffris, W. G. Wheeler, C. S. Jackman, A. E. Bingham, George S. Parker, F. H. Howe, T. O. Howe, W. J. McIntyre, S. B. Lewis, F. E. Lewis, J. A. Craig, C. D. Childs, I. F. Wortendyke, A. P. Burnham, Joseph L. Bear, R. L. Colvin, A. F. Hall, F. M. Marzluff, T. S. Starts With a Cold.

Catarrh is a lingering cold which refuses to yield to ordinary treatment.

Catarrh usually starts with a cold in the head and if left unchecked in this climate, rarely gets well of itself.

As fresh cold is taken the disease spreads, getting deeper and deeper, creeping along the mucous membranes from nose to throat, from throat to windpipe, from windpipe to bronchial tubes, and from bronchial tubes to lung cells.

The mucous membranes all connect, one with another. Hence it is easy to spread from one part to another lined with the same membrane. This is why catarrh in the head soon affects the throat and finally the stomach itself, bringing on chronic catarrh of the stomach, which is a most obstinate form of dyspepsia.

Everybody is now well agreed that catarrh is a blood disease and not a local one, and the attempt to cure by local applications simply gives temporary relief from the purely local symptoms without the remotest effect in staying the progress of the disease.

There is a new preparation recently offered to the public that is apparently destined to do away with every other form of catarrh treatment.

This new remedy is not a secret patent medicine, but is a large, pleasant tasting tablet, composed of Blood root, Red gum from the Eucalyptus tree, and other valuable and harmless specifics, which are taken internally and seem to have a remarkably beneficial effect upon the blood and mucous membranes, apparently eliminating the catarrhal poison from the whole system.

These tablets, while being pleasant, convenient and absolutely safe to use have made cures in long standing cases of catarrh that are little short of marvelous. They are sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and any catarrh sufferer who has tried inhalers, lotions, ointments, salves, etc., and realized their inconvenience and uselessness, will fully appreciate the difference between a mere palliative and a permanent cure after giving Stuart's Catarrh Tablets an impartial trial.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package and no matter where the catarrh is located, in the head, throat, lungs or stomach, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will surprise you with the effective result of even a few days' use.

FIFTY MINERS KILLED IN IOWA

Coal Shaft at Lost Creek
Wrecked by Gas and Dust Explosion.

RESCUE WAS IMPOSSIBLE.

Comrades of the Victims Struggle Desperately to Save the Few Survivors—Most of the Dead Men Leave Large Families—List of Those Identified.

Oskaloosa, Ia., Jan. 25.—Fifty men were killed in a terrible explosion in the Lost Creek coal mines, ten miles southeast of this place, at noon Friday. Thirty-eight bodies are in temporary morgues. Many of the injured died in the emergency hospitals and seven, who are probably fatally burned, still survive.

The explosion occurred at the noon hour, while the men were preparing to eat dinner. The usual noonday blasts were set off. One of the shots proved a fizzle and the burning powder set fire to the gas.

A terrible "dust explosion" followed. Smoke, flame, and debris spouted 200 feet out of the mouth of the shaft. Part of the upper works was torn away, the cages were wrecked, and the fans crippled.

Beyond Reach of Aid.

The dozens of miners were left beyond reach of aid, and it was 3 o'clock before the fans had driven the dust and gas back until the rescue parties dared to descend into the east entry, where the explosion occurred.

The forty miners in the west entry, who escaped without injury, leaped to the rescue, and, aided by men from the night shift, commenced at once the work of removing the bodies.

A few of the entombed miners had been saved from instant death by the blowing shut of doors by the explosion, but they were burned by the gas.

As the first rescue party fought its way into the shaft a terrible sight presented itself. The dead were mutilated by the force of the explosion and many of them were burned beyond recognition.

Appeals of the wives and children and mothers of the men imprisoned nerved the living on.

Rescuers Do Noble Work.

The rescuers put forth heroic efforts to reach the men entombed beyond the last entry. Again and again they were driven back by gas, and many of the rescuers were overcome.

Mothers, watch your children carefully.

FOR A BABY OF THIS SIZE

Or a baby of any size, when suffering from simple fevers, coated tongue, constipation, or any trouble arising from the stomach, the purest, safest and best remedy is LAXAKOLA, the great tonic laxative.

Mothers, watch your children carefully. Their health, perhaps their lives, depend on keeping their bowels regular. Many parents make a fatal mistake by giving their little children the old-fashioned, violent purgatives which are racking and griping, and are therefore not only unpleasant, but dangerous. Make no mistake, give them

LAXAKOLA. It does not grip nor irritate. It is a pure, gentle, speedy and painless liquid laxative. It is not only a sure laxative, but it contains valuable tonic properties which act upon the bowels, tone up the entire system and purify the blood.

A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and it will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. It will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature and induce sleep.

For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhea, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation.

WEATHER FORECAST.

INFLUENCE.

"Well, I don't care, I'm going to do just 'as mamma' says about it; she knows better than you do."

Three little girls were trudging along to school the other morning engaged in a spirited discussion about a topic on which they could not agree. Two of them were arrayed against the third, and after her reservoir of reason failed, she fell back on the best authority that a child possesses, and the mother's opinion satisfied when every other argument was abandoned.

"Mother knows best," is the watchword that has, said many a girl from defeat, and it is gratifying to know that this tower of home strength frequently serves as a refuge when the child is driven to extremity.

The influence of a mother is a sacred thing. It soothes to slumber the tired toddler, holds in check the impulses of young man and maidenhood, and steadies the course of men and women, after the loving heart has ceased to throb, and the earthly life has vanished forever.

Some one has said that the great forces of life are the silent forces, and that the most powerful agencies accomplish their mission without noise or bluster! An engine stands on the track, silent and motionless. It is helpless as a child until the valve is opened, and the steam, that no eye is able to discover, rushes in and fills the iron steed with life and energy.

A single key clicks under the hand of an operator, and 3,000 miles away, spanning an ocean, the sound is recorded, and the only power visible, is the little battery in the corner.

The voice, so natural that it is recognized, puts on the wings of thought and speeds away a thousand miles making the journey on a single wire because of the immense power with which genius has inspired the equipment. The power is so intense that it holds the voice to its course and so silent, that no ear may detect it in its rapid flight.

A bolt of lightning darts out from behind the cloud, and smites to death, silent, yet powerful.

A low and threatening rumble is heard in the valley and the volcano bursts forth from the mountain nearby, because of the hidden power stored away in the caverns, so far beneath the surface, that no eye may penetrate.

Nature, the store house of the great Creator, is the storehouse of power, so silent in processes, and yet so marvelous in accomplishment, that the every day experiences of life border on the miraculous, because so full of mystery.

Professor Pearson, the skeptical teacher at Evanston, will find it more difficult to explain the miracles of every-day life, than to digest the supernatural of ancient times. If he will come out into the sunlight and get away from the fog that envelopes his brain and clouds his vision, he will find no trouble in believing that the mighty unseen forces of all ages are not easily explained.

Many of these hidden forces, that are so familiar in their workings, that they are not recognized, exert an influence of helpfulness that contributes to the comfort and happiness of humanity.

The sun throws a warm mantle over the gray field, and the cloud unlocks the wealth of moisture, and a carpet of green lends beauty to the landscape. The process is repeated until the husbandman gathers the harvest, that united power developed and matured. The processes were so quiet that thought is slow to comprehend, and yet the work is faithfully performed, year after year, and was going on long before the bible was written, or Professor Pearson discovered.

Frost announces the approach of winter. Nature recognizes the warning, and while the forest puts on gay attire, the hidden power that made the tree, silently retreats and takes refuge far beneath the surface to gather strength for renewed activity when the season declines, to make way for the approach of another spring anniversary.

And so—all through the realm of what is familiarly called nature, these silent forces work together, controlled and guided by a Hand that makes no mistakes. Successful results are so commonplace, that they are anticipated, and if not always satisfactory, the weather shares responsibility.

There are other sources of power, more intangible, and equally subtle, that have to do with human experience. The storehouse is the individual and the field of action is the drama of every-day life.

Prominent among these sources of hidden energy, is the power of influence, and whether the mind wills or not, this power is constantly active. It is possible to control some faculties of the mind, but the power of influence is beyond control. It may be good or it may be bad, it can not be both, but it is for one or the other in the life of every accountable soul created.

The remark is frequently made,

"I have no influence," but it lacks the elements of a single grain of truth. The boy on the street, too lazy to work, too stubborn to obey, exerts an influence over every associate. The tramp who believes that the world owes him a living suggests to the man not in love with honest toil, an easy way to exist.

And so, this power of influence, working silently, yet faithfully, touches humanity at every point, and the touch is always helpful, or harmful.

The influence of the mother today means very largely the character of the men and women of tomorrow. If it is an anchorage, as it was to the little Miss on her way to school, it is a heritage more precious than gems.

Is it any wonder, that all over Christendom, the mothers are largely represented in the churches, willing seekers, and earnest workers, because the grave responsibilities of life press so heavily upon them?

She wants her boy to be a gentleman, and her girl to be a lady, in all that the titles imply, and she is not long in discovering the source of hidden power, that contributes to every-day strength, and fixes the character of influence.

The boy may go out into life, and in its busy tumult, neglect the home of earlier years, but the influence of the mother is a safeguard that holds him to purpose and accomplishment.

The girl in the first flush of young womanhood, may feel that restraint is irksome, but as the years advance and she finds herself in her own nursery, the lullaby of childhood calls back the memory of the mother, who always knew what was best.

Fortunate the boy or girl, who has such a mother, and happy the mother whose life and influence is exerted for the highest good.

PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN

There are no personal interests at stake in the contest now going on in the ranks of the republican party. Principles, not men, are involved. It is not a question of whether Mr. Whitehead, or some other republican shall succeed Governor La Follette, or whether he shall succeed himself, but it is a question of conservative republicanism or radicalism, pure and simple. One has been tested for years and found successful, the other has been tried for twelve months and is disappointing.

Governor La Follette represents radical and theoretical reform. Arrayed against him and his measures, is the conservative element of the party, who honestly believe that his policy is dangerous to the welfare of the state. This element is so strong that it demands a leader, and Senator Whitehead happens to be the man selected, because of his ability, and state wide popularity.

When the campaign is inaugurated an opportunity for full and free discussion will determine whether conservatism, or radicalism, dominates the party. This discussion should be entirely free from personalities, and principles, not men, considered. The governor, and the men who endorse his attitude, can place before the people of the state the strongest arguments possessed in favor of his policy, and the conservatives will be entitled to the same privilege.

Men honestly differ on questions of public policy, as they do in this case. A free and fair discussion furnishes enlightenment and after this is had, the verdict of republican opinion at the convention, will determine that the mighty unseen forces of all ages are not easily explained.

Many of these hidden forces, that are so familiar in their workings, that they are not recognized, exert an influence of helpfulness that contributes to the comfort and happiness of humanity.

The sun throws a warm mantle over the gray field, and the cloud unlocks the wealth of moisture, and a carpet of green lends beauty to the landscape. The process is repeated until the husbandman gathers the harvest, that united power developed and matured.

The remark is frequently made, public have already conferred that honor.

Professor Pearson proposes to stay by his job, until invited vigorously to quit. Some men are not largely endowed with common sense.

Rev. Parry, of Pittsburg, Pa., is unwilling to dismiss his prayer meeting for a McKinley Memorial service. The zeal of some men is remarkable.

The Cuban problem is perplexing both houses of congress. How to be just to the island, and fair to American industries is the question.

Miss Stone is about to be liberated. If the report is true, it will be a relief to the lady, as well as the rest of humanity.

Hobson, of navy fame, is said to have political aspirations. Better keep out and save his laurels.

MITCHELL AGAIN CHOSEN

Miners' Convention at Indianapolis Elects Organization's Officers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—The United Mine Workers of America, in convention here, re-elected the national officers without contest. The officers re-elected are: President John Mitchell; vice-president, T. L. Lewis; secretary-treasurer, W. B. Wilcox.

The convention adopted the recommendation that locals throughout the country petition their representatives in Congress to favor the limitation of the power of Federal Judges in the issuance of blanket injunctions in times of labor troubles.

The recommendation that the mine hoisting engineers be organized under the supervision of the United Mine Workers, with separate districts, was not concurred in by the convention, and a motion that the "unconditional surrender" of the engineers be demanded was passed.

Arrangements have been already made at the hotels for the coming of representatives of the operators, and the prospect for a large attendance of operators is said to be good.

It is known the owners of the West Virginia coal fields will not attend the conference, and this is taken as a sign that the miners' demands for organization in West Virginia are to be ignored.

A call is being circulated throughout the state by his enthusiastic friends and it is hoped by them that the result of this call will induce Mr. Whitehead to enter the race for nomination. Should the senator decide to go in for the nomination in response to the call, there are many things in his favor, and none against him thus far—Iowa County Republic.

Tomah Herald: Now they are calling Mr. Whitehead the "Deacon," and are scorning him because he is a good, a high minded, moral man. Those who know the Janesville senator know that he is neither the servile slave of any ring nor an obstinate autocrat disregarding the opinions of the chosen representatives of the people in matters of public concern. Jibes cannot hurt him.

Mauis Star: Whitehead understands the difference between pretenses and performances and has never been carried off his feet by the La Follette agitation for political effect.

SPONTANEOUS:

The La Follette papers are "in a state of terror over" what they call "that spontaneous choice" of the honest republicans of the state for the nomination of Senator Whitehead of Janesville, for governor. It does appear to be a "spontaneous choice" of the people of the state for a good man. "In the interest of harmony" will La Follette kindly step down and do by him as he was done by last time, give him a clear field?—Tomah Monitor.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

When Senator Whitehead earnestly sought to secure the passage of the bill to limit the state school tax to a specific amount, over $500,000, less than was levied, he showed his business capacity. By the help of the vote of every La Follette senator, the bill was killed. Governor La Follette, through lack of attention to the business affairs of the state, permitted this to be done. He frequently availed himself of his right to send messages to the senate about inconsequential matters, when he felt disposed to read the legislature lecture, but upon this subject he was wonderfully silent. As the result, some of the Southern Wisconsin counties are paying an unnecessary tax this year. The La Follette argument that if railroads were made to pay their just proportion of the taxes, this burden would not be upon the people, is ridiculous for even if the railroads and other corporations were paying $500,000, it would not change the law governing the levy of the school tax which is based upon the total value of all property in the state exclusive of the license fees received from railroads and other corporations. When the farmers of southern Wisconsin take these facts into consideration, they will have to come to the conclusion that political reforms come high, especially if they are under the La Follette brand.

Suppose the states of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin enjoyed the benefits of an inter-state tax commission, and the property of railroads having terminals and doing business in the four states, was assessed at fair valuation, and the proceeds equitably divided, would there be any cause for complaint by either the people or the corporations?

Senator Whitehead enjoys the confidence of the farmers of Rock county, who have twice given him loyal support. Should he be honored by the nomination for governor, his home county will rejoice. Rock county republicanism is noted for loyalty, and party candidates never fail of strong endorsement.

The Madison Journal is fearful that the Whitehead sentiment will devastate the Capitol city cemetery. The issues involved are too full of life to waste any time in a sepulchre. The Journal's fears are groundless. Grant County, Herald.

AWAY ABOVE PAR.

State Senator John M. Whitehead's stock as a gubernatorial candidate is away above par, and no more popular nor safer man could be selected as the standard bearer for Wisconsin republicans. John M. Whitehead's record is one of fearless advocacy of justice in every cause. There are those who believe he would relinquish every political prospect, rather than be found upholding a wrong cause. This is the sort of a man we want in public affairs.

He is of the true blue, conservative stalwart type, despising a populist or a populistic tendency as a menace to the state. That John M. Whitehead is the favorite of this portion of the state for governor, is a potent fact, and in the days to come there will be such a rallying to his standard as to make him easily the leader in the convention.—Delavan Republic.

MORALITY NOT A BAR.

Some of the La Follette followers are trying to stem the tide of the Whitehead boom by saying he is too good a man to be popular, and that because he is a strong fighter against gambling and drunkenness, he will not run well in Wisconsin.

That is casting a bad slur on the voters of the state and an unnecessary one.

The men who gamble themselves would not, as a general rule, endorse a man for governor who was in favor of legalizing it by law. We want the best men in office, men of moral character and not afraid to express their convictions. We believe Whitehead is such a man and he will make a good governor.—Whitewater Gazette.

White Dines Prince Henry.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Andrew D. White, United States Ambassador here, gave a dinner Friday night to Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia at the Kaiserhof. It has been settled that Prince Henry will remain in the United States until March 12 instead of 8, as originally planned. He will probably return to Germany on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern.

MAKE EFFORT TO BUY THE WINDSOR

It is Believed That the Madison-Janesville Line Promoters are Atter the Place.

Are the promoters of the Kilbourn, Madison and Jansville Inter-urban line looking for a chance to purchase the Windsor hotel property on the corner of North Main and North First streets? On Thursday evening a gentleman who registered as E. J. Fisher of Kilbourn arrived at the hotel. Friday morning he was up bright and early and commenced an examination of the hotel, even going into the cellar and looking over the foundation walls and in fact made a thorough examination of every part of the building.

Friday noon he was joined by a gentleman that registered as George H. Campbell of Kilbourn and together they made another examination of the property. Landlord Corneau thought it rather funny they should wish to make an examination of the property and knowing they were from Kilbourn asked them if their visit had anything to do with the electric line.

They evaded Mr. Corneau's questions by saying they had a proposition from Mr. Burns to trade the property for some property in Kilbourn. They left for home yesterday afternoon without making any further explanation in regard to the matter.

Mr. T. P. Burns was seen this afternoon by Gazette reporter. In regard to the proposed trade. He stated that he had not seen the gentlemen and was totally in the dark in regard to their visit. He did not send them over to look the building over and did not know they had been here until he was asked about them. The property in question is an ideal location for a depot, transfer house and office of the company. It is located right on their line and also connects with the property of the C. M. & St. P. R. R. company, so freight and passengers could easily be transferred.

Mr. Corneau has a five year lease of the building so is not worrying over their movements.

RIFLE BALL FOUND IN A PINE SLAB

It Was Imbedded in a Bunch of Deer Hair—Curious Discovery in the Jeffries Factory.

David K. Jeffries has quite a curiosity which was discovered at his mill yesterday. The workmen had ripped up a large two inch white pine plank that came from the mill at Jeffries, Wis., and were running the pieces through a surfacer when the machine struck something not wood. An investigation showed that the substance was a rifle ball firmly imbedded in the timber.

A curious thing about the find is that it is surrounded by a patch of deer hair. It is badly out of shape and looks about the size of a 44-40.

The supposition is that some hunter shot a deer that was standing along side the tree from which the bullet was taken, and that the ball went through the animal, probably through the neck and lodged in the tree. It is remarkable that the ball was not struck by the gang saws at the mill when the tree was ripped up into planks. Mr. Jeffries prizes the find quite highly.

JAMES J. HILL ON THE STAND.

Bell Interstate Co-operation, States Are Always Cut to Big Shippers.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—James J. Hill appears before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Chicago Friday in answer to a subpoena and spoke as President of the Northern Securities company, which controls the stocks of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington roads.

The conclusions reached by Mr. Hill may be thus summarized:

"Combinations of railroad companies can never keep freight rates at excessive figures. The public always has recourse to the courts when charges are too high."

"The effect of large associations of railroads has a tendency to keep the freight tariffs down to a reasonable basis."

"Tariff freight rates are not lowered by competition; freight rates to large shippers are always cut, but the general public does not share in the benefit."

"The financial safety of any railroad lies in doing business at a rate that will keep out competition—to regulate freights so that the other fellow does not like the taste of your tariff."

MRS. RICHARDSON'S DEFENSE.

Woman Accused of the Murder of Her Husband Tells Her Story.

Plattsburgh, Mo., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Adeline B. Richardson Friday made her own defense against the charge of having killed her husband, Frank W. Richardson, who was murdered in their home at Savannah on the night before Christmas in 1900. As a climax in her defense her attorneys produced a letter written by Richardson to his wife while he was an inmate of a drink-cure establishment.

Richardson, in his letter, exonerated his wife, acknowledged his own guilt, and begged forgiveness. The reading of the letter, which was admitted as evidence, created a sensation.

Mrs. Richardson detailed the events of the day of the murder—Dec. 24, 1900, accounting for all her actions up to the time when in her home she heard the shot which killed her husband.

"Do you know who shot your husband?" she was asked.

"I do not."

"Did you see the person who shot him?"

"I did not."

Mrs. Richardson said the meeting with Stewart Fife on the church steps was accidental. When asked with reference to her relations with Fife, she displayed pain and anger. She had, she declared, considered Fife a mere boy, and had not for this reason paid attention to her husband's accusations against her mate, while he was intoxicated.

The arguments were begun, and it is expected the case will go to the Jury to-day. The state will demand a verdict for murder in the first or second degree.

*I sleep well enough at night,
And the blankest appetite
Ever mortal man possessed.*

Riley's Farmer is the very picture of a man advanced in years, yet in the enjoyment of perfect health. A good appetite, good digestion and sound sleep, are the chief factors in a vigorous old age. Life is sustained by food, when it is properly digested and assimilated. When digestion fails, there is a loss of nutrition which soon shows itself in physical weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the body in the only way possible, by enabling the assimilation of the nutrition extracted from food.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble ever since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Tonasket, Washington Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief as I had suffered so much and seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to 125 pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred pounds again and can do my work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

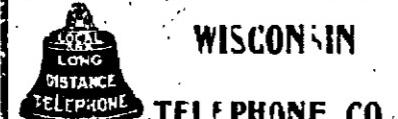

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
